Additional Requirements and/or Recommendations for BFA degrees
Prescott College offers Bachelor of Fine Arts degrees (BFA) in Creative Writing, Visual Arts, and Interdisciplinary Arts & Letters. Each degree is an intensive program designed for students with excellent potential who want the opportunity to deepen their knowledge, skills, or experience and develop their talents for (1) personal enrichment, (2) preparation for graduate school, and/or (3) preparation for a professional career. Additional requirements and recommendations for each BFA degree are listed in their respective sections below.

Bachelor of Fine Arts in Creative Writing Additional Expectations and Recommendations
We expect BFA students to actively participate in the life of the program, including attendance at and help with literary events and publications, mentorship of lower-division students, and formal peer reviews of senior projects. BFA students should routinely enter manuscripts in the Alligator Juniper student contests.

Creative Writing Merit Reviews
Because the BFA is a pre-professional degree, based in large part on skill and talent, students must undergo periodic merit reviews at the Degree Plan (DP), Senior Project Application (SPA), and Senior Project (SP) stages of the advising process. Students must receive written support from at least one full RDP faculty member at the DP stage and two endorsements at the SPA stage. The senior project must be mentored by an RDP faculty member or approved instructor and must pass a final SP review, consisting of the primary mentor and at least one student reader.

Bachelor of Fine Arts in Visual Arts Additional Expectations and Recommendations
BFA students are expected to actively participate in the life of the program, including attendance at and help with gallery exhibitions, events and publications, mentorship of lower-division students, and formal peer reviews of senior projects. BFA students should routinely enter national juried competitions and contests.

Visual Arts Merit Review
Because it is a pre-professional degree, based in large part on skill and application, BFA candidates must undergo a portfolio review at the end of the second year. Students must receive written support from at least one full RDP faculty member by the Degree Plan deadline to continue towards the BFA. The Senior Project must be mentored or co-mentored by an RDP faculty member or approved instructor and must pass a final Senior Project review, consisting of the primary mentor and at least one student.

Bachelor of Fine Arts in Interdisciplinary Arts & Letters Breadth and Liberal Arts Requirements
No breadth or second competence is required because the interdisciplinary nature of the degree already demands breadth and depth. Although many courses in Arts & Letters are interdisciplinary in nature (e.g., Literature of the American Dream, Voices from Latin America, Theatre and Social Change, Nature and Dance, Art on the Periphery, Interpreting Nature Through Art and Photography), students are required to take at least eight courses outside of Arts & Letters, some of which may count towards the BFA. These might include Image and Power in Mass Culture, Holy Books, Philosophies of the Interpretive Naturalists, Nature’s Voice: Reading and Writing about Natural History, Family Systems in Film and Literature, among others.

Interdisciplinary Arts and Letters Merit Reviews
Because it is a pre-professional degree, based in large part on skill and talent, students must undergo periodic merit reviews at the Degree Plan (DP), Senior Project Application (SPA), and Senior Project (SP) stages of the advising process. Students must receive written support from at least two full Arts and Letters faculty members in at least two separate curricular areas at the DP and SPA stages. The SP must be mentored or co-mentored by an RDP faculty member or approved instructor (we recommend co-mentorship from faculty members in different curricular areas) and must pass a final Senior Project review, consisting of the primary mentor(s) and at least one student.
BFA in Creative Writing

Prescott College’s Bachelor of Fine Arts (BFA) in Creative Writing is an intensive program designed for students with excellent writing potential who want the opportunity to deepen their literary experience and develop their writing talent for (1) personal enrichment, (2) preparation for graduate school, and/or (3) preparation for a professional career in writing, editing, or teaching. Prescott College offers a variety of courses in each genre of writing (poetry, fiction, nonfiction, and scriptwriting) as well as American, world, and cross-disciplinary literature, and professional practicum opportunities in literary journal publishing, newspaper journalism, teaching, and development and production of original plays. Requirements and recommendations for the BFA are listed below.

BFA Requirements

- 16 full-course equivalents and a minimum of 56 semester hours (if transferring credit) in the competence area must be completed to satisfy the BFA requirements.
- A minimum of 8 full-course equivalents/32 semester hours must be completed at Prescott College.
- 8 upper-division courses/30-36 semester hours required. A minimum of 6 full-course equivalents/24 upper-division semester hours must be completed at Prescott College. This includes the BFA Senior Project (4-8 credits).
- No freshman-level composition course may count toward the BFA.
- Workshops and form/technique coursework in 3 different genre areas (poetry, fiction, nonfiction, scriptwriting) with a minimum of 3 courses in at least one genre and 2 courses in a second genre.
- 4 literature courses/12-16 semester hours required (two upper-division courses/6-8 hours). Only 1 combination writing/literature (e.g., Memoir, Forms of Fiction, Short Story Cycle) may count toward the literature requirement. Literature coursework must reflect training in at least two designated subject areas (American Literature, World Literature, Cross-disciplinary Literature).
- 2 Writing and Literature Practicum Courses (one of which must be Literary Journal Practicum). The same practicum course may be taken more than once.
- BFA Senior Project (4-8 semester hours). Typically an ambitious manuscript of new and revised creative writing such as a collection of stories, poems, essays, scripts, or a combination of genres. The BFA final manuscript must be reviewed by a BFA committee, and then professionally bound. Hard and electronic copies must be submitted to the A&L Program archives.

Additional BFA in Creative Writing Expectations and Recommendations

We expect BFA students to actively participate in the life of the program, including attendance at and help with literary events and publications, mentorship of lower-division students, and formal peer reviews of senior projects. BFA students should routinely enter manuscripts in the Alligator Juniper student contests.

BFA in Interdisciplinary Arts & Letters
Prescott College’s Bachelor of Fine Arts in Interdisciplinary Arts & Letters is designed for ambitious Arts & Letters students who want to emphasize the interrelatedness of the artistic disciplines but do not wish to sacrifice depth or breadth of knowledge or mastery of technique. This degree is particularly valuable for students interested in graduate study or careers as professional interdisciplinary artists, as arts administrators, and/or as teachers. This degree allows students to combine competence and breadth in areas and requires significant study in three different disciplinary areas: Creative Writing, Visual Arts, and Performing Arts.

Interdisciplinary Arts & Letters BFA Requirements
• 24 full-course equivalents and a minimum of 88 semester hours (if transferring credit) in the competence area must be completed to satisfy the BFA requirements.
• 12 full-course equivalents (48 semester hours) must be completed at Prescott College.
• 12 or more courses (48 semester hours) must be upper-division, with a minimum of three UD courses in each area. A minimum of 8 full-course equivalents/32 upper-division semester hours must be completed at Prescott College. This includes the BFA Senior Project (4-8 credits).
• Creative Writing Requirements: 6-8 eight courses, including two literature courses and creative writing courses in at least two genres.
• Visual Arts: 6-8 courses, including at least one course in each of the following areas: art history, 2-D, 3-D, and photography.
• Performing Arts: 6-8 courses, including at least two courses in theatre and two courses in dance, one course in directing or choreography, and one production course.
• Students must complete a practicum course in two of the three disciplines.
• At least two courses should be interdisciplinary in nature. These connections can be between disciplines in A&L or between A&L and other disciplines (e.g., Art Education, Writing as Performance, Family Systems in Film and Literature, Shakespeare, Literature in Performance, Theatre and Social Change, Literature of the American Dream, Nature and Dance).

• Senior Project (4-8 credits) must be mentored/evaluated by a Prescott College faculty member or approved instructor. It must be interdisciplinary in nature, and it must combine at least two of the three disciplines.

• BFA students are also required to participate in Arts & Letters events and service projects.

Breadth and Liberal Arts Requirements
No breadth or second competence is required because the interdisciplinary nature of the degree already demands breadth and depth. Although many courses in Arts & Letters are interdisciplinary in nature (e.g., Literature of the American Dream, Voices from Latin America, Theatre and Social Change, Nature and Dance, Art on the Periphery, Interpreting Nature Through Art and Photography), students are required to take at least eight courses outside of Arts & Letters, some of which may count towards the BFA. These might include Image and Power in Mass Culture, Holy Books, Philosophies of the Interpretive Naturalists, Nature’s Voice: Reading and Writing about Natural History, Family Systems in Film and Literature, among others.

BFA Merit Reviews
Because it is a pre-professional degree, based in large part on skill and talent, students must undergo periodic merit reviews at the Degree Plan (DP), Senior Project Application (SPA), and Senior Project (SP) stages of the advising process. Students must receive written support from at least two full A&L faculty members in at least two separate curricular areas at the DP and SPA stages. The SP must be mentored or co-mentored by an RDP faculty member or approved instructor (we recommend co-mentorship from faculty members in different curricular areas) and must pass a final Senior Project review, consisting of the primary mentor(s) and at least one student.
